Several travelers have reported being attacked by Dragons in the past few weeks. This news
is quite disturbing,
since the Dragons
seldom leave the safety of their caves.

Once again the
Dragons have struck.
Never before have the Dragons left their caves in such numbers. I fear that something is amiss. We must discover what is behind these attacks!!!

The Dragon`s attacks
have increased in frequency. They strike
with no warning and then vanish into the
southern portion of the mountains of Destard.
A man who calls
himself Dragar, Lord of Dragons, has been seen leading them. We must learn more about
him. What does he want? Where does he come from? Why do

the dragons follow
him?

Each day the raids
become more and
more devasting.
Yesterday an entire village was burned to the ground along with all those who lived
there.

I am at my wits end. I can find no information
at all about this Dragar.
No one had ever heard
of him before the raids began and no one knows where he comes from.

I have made contact with the wisps. They seem to have some knowledge of Dragar.
Communication with
them is difficult at best,
but I have learned that he is gathering the pieces of a magical set of Armor of great power. The wisps
indicate that it is of the utmost importance that he not succeed in
gathering all of the pieces of this armor.
Each time I ask the
wisps how to find Dragar`s lair, they simply respond with the word "Wintersoul".

Dragar grows bolder
with each attack. Today he and his Dragons
assaulted a fully garrisoned city. The guards were eventually

able to drive them off, but I noticed that the Dragons immediately
killed any that drew
close enough to Dragar
to threaten him.

I have discovered that one of the pieces of the Armor of Ice is located inside the tomb of the wizard Rothar. Since we cannot find Dragar`s lair we will ambush him at the
tomb when he comes
in search of the armor.
At last we will be rid of this blight upon the land.
